FIRE THREATENS CHAUTAUQUA. Forest Blaze Covered 250 Acres Near Plasa Bluffs. A forest fire, which for a time threatened to destroy the entire Chautauqua

Valley, started at noon Saturday in the bluffs above the Plasa Chautaugua. The fire did not spread to any considerable extent until toward nightfall. At dark the few resorters that are left at that place with the workmen turned out in force and fought the fire until 4 o'clock Sunday morning before it was finally checked.

The Chautauquans were assisted by Anton Kleinschnittger, who has a large force of men at work on the new Hotel Chautauqua, and by starting fires in opposition to the main fire its spread was checked.

The fire started in a tract of land belonging to the Ames heirs of St. Louis. From that it spread to the upper Chautauqua Valley, over the bluff separating the upper valley from the lower valley. About 250 acres were burned, but the damage is very light, only the underbrush being consumed. The fire is supposed to have been started by hunters. with the workmen turned out in force
